LIBRARY SERVICES TO STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Do you or your colleagues work with students who are learning disabled, are blind or have low vision, or are physically disabled? Do these students need books in an audio or braille format to help them with reading assignments?

The New York State Talking Book & Braille Library (TBBL) may be able to help! Cassette books and braille books, along with special equipment, may be borrowed FREE by schools with eligible students. Both home and school service is available at no cost.

Many educators are unaware of our free library service and spend valuable resources purchasing special format books for their students. For upstate New York students and schools, many audio and braille titles for English and literature classes, book reports, and recreational reading are available by loan from the NYS Talking Book & Braille Library in Albany.

For further information on eligibility, resources, and registration for free library services from TBBL, please contact:
