PUBLIC LIBRARY CAREER RESOURCES

The public library is a great place to start your job search! Most public libraries have free resources for job seekers, including public access computers and high speed Internet. The public libraries in New York State that are listed in this directory offer job search and career exploration services and resources for their communities. Some of those listed have trained staff available to provide one-on-one assistance with resume development, job interview preparation, company research, small business startup, education and training options and much more.

In addition, every public library in New York State provides access to JOBNOW* for assistance with resumes, interviews, and test preparation. JOBNOW

Note: PCC designation after a library's name indicates that the library is a Public Computing Center* which provides technical support and high speed broadband access.
